CONSEQUENCES OF UNCHECKED INVASIVES?

BEHAVIORAL CHANGES

A cartoon illustration depicting a man with blonde hair, wearing a light blue button-down shirt and dark blue pants, walking in a field. He is pulling a green plant with three leaves and a root system. A speech bubble above him says "Invasives must go!". To his right, a green crocodile with its mouth open, showing sharp teeth, is looking at him. A speech bubble from the crocodile says "Indeed.". In the background, there is a row of green bushes, a yellow tractor in a field, a row of small houses, and a city skyline with smoke rising from it under a red sky.
